Open university of hong kong admission score

Clubs in Hong Kong are some of the best clubs in Asia, and whether you feel like tying glasses with people from vogue pages or dancing until the sun rises you'll find a place for you and your dancing shoes. The top five Hong Kong clubs below are a mix of bars such as lounge cocktails to super DJ destinations inspired by Ibiza. Before you strap on your high heels you should be aware that many clubs in Hong Kong act judge ded like a door policy. It is often worth calling in advance to try to get your name on the guest list or at least arrive early if you want to enter. 01 of 05 If you think the hype, this is the hottest dance floor in Hong Kong; Perched above the party area of Lan Kwai Fong, the interior is a sharp, designer fusion of Asian influences and New York, such as secluded booth style seats and seductive lantern lighting. Although it is worth noting that the club has a strange policy of keeping live birds in cages throughout the club. Peta has indicated the lights and loud music make the practice harsh on the birds but the first dragon refuses to budge. If you're planning a visit, be sure to plan ahead and get uber's exclusive guest list. 02 of 05 found in the luxurious surroundings of Luxe Manor in Tsim Sha Tsui Finds attracts a more mature crowd that manages to be hip without having to brag about it. Scandinavian theme means an understated design with simple forests, clean lines, and light colors. Finds doesn't feature the top drawing dj on the weekends, although the focus here is on socialization that is helped by expertly mixed cocktails. 03 of the 05 title 108 Hollywood Rd, Central, Hong Kong among the many exclusive clubs in the town of M1NT arguably king, with a stricter door policy than the Freemasons. This member club is just inspired by the original in London, and if you want to join you will need to bandage a piece of Swiss size from your bank account. M1NT, however, has nights that are open to non-members. The club itself is a mansion, featuring 32,000 pieces of crystal chandelier, Damien Hirst paintings and live black tip sharks in the aquarium. While the guest list reads like a line-up at Madame Tussauds. 04 of 05 If you are sick of having your belt and shoes mocked by Robocops at most clubs in Hong Kong, dusk till dawn is a slice of the bottom and dirty fun. Packed on weekends with locals and expats, more flight crews stop, the entire bar is transformed into one large dance floor and the crowd writhes around for good-jawed Filipino bands dropping. Expect U2, Black Eyed Peas, and other top hits of the past twenty years. Continue to 5 out of 5 below. 05 of 05 address basement 38, is my commercial building, 38-44 D'Aguilar St., central, Hong Kong phone +852 2810 1510 If you are more interested in music than hit peacock poses, Fuller boasts some of the best DJs in business, whether Imported and imported. This, in turn, attracts a crowd dedicated to dancing until it falls. The curved underground basement makes for the atmosphere if sweaty dance floor, with crowds piling up in after 12 am a strict but not radical door policy, and as long as you arrive early enough you'll find yourself ramming elbows with elders and celebrities Volar attracts. These articles can help guide you: Hong Kong -- Markets in Hong Kong and Japan fell on Monday due to growing U.S. fears of recession, but China and India, the less mature emerging market giants, continued to downward trend through modest gains. The Hang Seng index recovered half of its morning losses at the close, but fell 340 points, or 1.2%, to 27,179 points, while China's Shanghai Composite Index rose 31 points, or 0.6%, to 5,393. Trading volumes on the Shanghai Composite Index reached 161.4 billion yuan, or $22.2 billion, about 2.5% from october 2006 levels, when the market reached a record high, while the sensitive Bombay Index rose 108 points, or 0.5%, to an all-time high of 20,795. Indian bank ICICI (IBN) - Get Report, which jumped 4.7%, to 1285 rupees, was led by Indian bank ICICI Bank (IBN) - Get Report, which jumped 4.7%, to 1285 rupees, after investors sought bargains in the early decline today. In Taiwan, Taix Hot 338 points, or 4%, to 7883, as traders said they were dumping heavy positions in electronics stocks such as Hun Hai Precision (HNHPF) and Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing (TSM) - get a report, in anticipation of weak orders, Hon Hai Precision dropped 6.3%, to TS$171.50, while Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing fell 7%, to $55.80. South Korea's Kospi fell in line with other Asian markets, falling 1.8%, to 1831. Hong Kong is likely to benefit from China, and it is likely to hurt the United States for the time being, said Richard Lee, an analyst at Core Pacific Yamaichi in Hong Kong. In China, you are dealing with a different group of investors who care more about China itself and who believe the economy can benefit from the Olympic Games. The biggest losers in Hong Kong were commodity stocks, with gold falling to $862.10 an ounce from $863.20 on Friday, and crude oil, which lost 0.6%, to $97.33, by the end of Asian trading. PetroChina (PTR) - Get fell 2.3%, to HK$13.86, while Sinopec Shanghai Petrochemical slumped 3.4%, to HK$11.26, after reporting significant gains last week. The Zijin Gold Mining (ZJMF) and Sinu Gold mines fell 3%, to HK$13.04 and 3.6% to HK$50.95, respectively. Financial stocks also performed poorly on concerns about the global impact of U.S. jobs data on Friday. Hang Seng (HSNGY) fell 1.9%, to HK$155.70, while HSBC Holdings' parent shares fell 1.8%, to a two-year low of HK$127.80, and China Life Insurance (LFC) fell 2.7%, to HK$38.60. Real estate stocks recovered in the afternoon session on rumors that the US Federal Reserve may cut interest rates by as much as 50 basis points by the end of January. The Swire Pacific conglomerate jumped 3.6%, to HK$111.8, Cheuy up 1.9%, to HK$147, and Hang Lung Properties (HLPPY) returned after losses to close down 1% at HK$34.15. China-related stocks were also isolated from today's sale. MTR Corp (MTRJY) railway company jumped 9.1%, to HK$34.90, as Chinese railway companies were pushed higher by China Railways, which rose 2.1%, to HK$11.60, the most heavily traded shares. China's railway company has raised reports that the company has won 22 billion yuan, or $3 billion, in undisclosed mainland contracts. Local capital is it. On the sidelines, as well as foreign capital, which is still waiting for the stability of secondary mortgages in the United States, says Jackson Wong, investment manager at Tanrich Securities in Hong Kong. He said Chinese consumer shares and Hong Kong real estate shares would generally perform better than Hang Seng until volumes rose. Hang Seng volumes were HK$113.5 billion, or HK$14.6 billion, against HK$99.8 billion, or $12.8 billion on Friday. However, Wong says volumes should reach HK$150 billion ($19.2 billion) a day before they can be considered aggressive and enter the big buy-out market. Korean Pacific Yamaichi Lee says that Hang Seng will continue to trade between the band of 25,000 points and 28,000 points at present. In China, shares rose broadly, excluding bank shares, which fell to profit, China Airlines (AIRYY) and China Eastern Airlines (CEA) - Get Report, down 1%, at 28.89 yuan, flat, at 20.63 yuan, after reports that China Eastern shareholders would refuse to sell shares worth $920 million to Singapore Airlines (SINGF) on Tuesday. If the deal is rejected, China Airlines will make a counter-offer, the airline announced yesterday. In Japan, the Nikkei index hit a 17-month low for the second straight session, finishing 190 points, or 1.3 percent lower, to 14,500. Share prices were more shaken than all major indexes in Asia, with friday's sell-off on Wall Street and the yen's strength. The yen rose 0.5% against the dollar in Asian trading, to 109.44, but is still weaker than the 110 index. Nintendo (NTDOY) led the sale, shedding 5.7%, to 59,900 yen, despite reports by Japanese gaming magazine Enterbrain that Wei outperformed Sony PlayStation 3 by more than 3-to-1 in Japan during the holiday season. According to the magazine, Wei sold 774,123 units for 232,421 units for the PlayStation. Shares in Sony (SNE) - The report rose 0.7%, to 5830 on a bargain catch, however. Among other exporters, Kobe Steel (KBSTY) lost 0.3%, to 346 yen, while Honda (HMC) - Get Report fell 0.8%, to 3,570 yen, but Canon (CAJ) - Get Report followed Sony's lead, rising 0.2%, to 4,950 yen.

Weekly reported this weekend that Japan's share of GDP has fallen by 4%, to $4.4 trillion, and that the country's share of growth in terms of the global economy is now at its lowest level in 24 years. In contrast to the rest of the world, i also expected fears of deflation in 2008. Daniel Harrison is a business journalist specializing in European and emerging markets, particularly Asia.
